NOTICE – EXTRA SESSIONS FOR COMMUNICATION AND APTITUDE

---

Dear Students,

It has come to our attention that students at Levels C and D are not attending the extra sessions for communication and aptitude. Your active participation in these sessions is crucial for your overall development and success in the final placement interviews.

If you believe you already possess the necessary skills and confidence to excel in the final placement interviews, we encourage you to demonstrate your abilities by participating in a mock drill with the faculty. Successfully proving your capability may exempt you from attending further communication and aptitude extra sessions.

However, it's important to note that consistent attendance and active participation in all extended classes are mandatory for eligibility in the final placement process. Failure to attend these sessions may result in being disqualified from participating in the final placements.

We urge all students to take advantage of these additional learning opportunities to enhance your skills and increase your chances of securing a successful placement. Your dedication and effort now will greatly benefit your future career prospects.
